Open Online Courses

This page include links to online courses, lectures, and tutorials from leading universities and institutions around the world. These resources may cover a range of topics, from science and technology to humanities and social sciences.

In addition to course materials, open course pages may also provide access to interactive tools, such as quizzes, discussion forums, and peer-to-peer learning networks. Some pages may even offer certificates or badges upon completion of specific courses or assignments.

Open course pages can be a valuable resource for students and researchers seeking to enhance their knowledge and skills, particularly in areas where traditional classroom instruction may not be available or accessible. By providing free, open access to high-quality educational materials and resources, these pages can help to democratize education and empower learners of all ages and backgrounds.

It provides a simple way to broadly search for scholarly literature. From one place, you can search across many disciplines and sources: articles, theses, books, abstracts and court opinions, from academic publishers, professional societies, online repositories, universities and other web sites.

Microsoft Academic

It is a free public web search engine for academic publications and literature, developed by Microsoft Research.

Cybertesis

Sponsored by UNESCO and Fonds Francophone des Inforoutes, the Cybertesis program is the result of a project of cooperation between the Université de Montréal, the Université de Lyon2, the University of Chile and 32 universities of Europe, Africa and Latin America. It allows to make simultaneous searches through a single Web interface, and to retrieve more than 50,000 full text theses stored in 27 different servers and university repositories, by means of the use of OAI protocol (Open Archives Initiative) as a service provider (metadata harvesting).
